France is boasting over a woman who is 116 years old, and in the possession of good bodily health and all her faculties.

Says the Evening Wisconsin: "General J. M. Rusk is in town. He uses no liquor or tobacco, and plays no games. The temperance people cannot say as much of their candidate, T. D. Kanouse."

When Billy Arlington, the well-known minstrel, was working at the blacksmith trade with his father in Chicago, he had a sign painted to suit himself, and it read thus: "William Arlington & Father, Blacksmiths."

The room in which President Garfield so long lay ill in the White House has been freshly tinted and the discolored spots made by the splashing of the medicines have been obliterated. New furniture has been placed in the East Room.

President Arthur seems to take to old men for his advisers. He is going on the principle of "old men for counsel," and usually this is the safe policy to adopt. All in all, President Garfield's cabinet was the youngest ever organized by a President.

One hundred and fifty thousand persons visited the Milwaukee Exposition. There were thirty-nine exhibition days, and the receipts amounted to a little over $30,000. It was a much better exhibition than Chicago ever gave, especially in the art department.

The latest reports give the losses of the Michigan sufferers at $2,346,000. This amount has been reduced to $1,722,000 by the insurance on some of the property. This, however, does not represent the crops destroyed, nor the work required to rebuild the houses.

Senator William T. Price, who offered the prohibition resolution in the Republican State convention and supported it by a strong speech, is supporting General Rusk in a most enthusiastic manner. He says he is not so far lost, politically, as to give the Democrats aid and comfort by voting for Kanouse.

It is known that Speaker Bradford is one of the most earnest temperance men in the State, and as he occupies a prominent political position, his opinion is worth something. Speaking about voting the temperance ticket, he recently said: "I am a temperance man, through and through, but I might as well vote for Fratt as for Kanouse, for that's all the temperance vote amounts to."

The 500 women who struck in Lorillard's tobacco factory, at Jersey City, last week, have been confronted with a result which they did not expect. Timely notice was given to the girls to go to work, and when they peremptorily refused, the members of the firm unanimously decided to remove the stripping department to Louisville, Kentucky. The girls are now mourning over their foolishness.

The Milwaukee Sunday Telegraph tells the following anecdote: "It is said that General Rusk, the Republican candidate, and Mr. Kanouse, the Prohibition candidate for Governor, met at a hotel in Sparta, the other day, and after supper Mr. Kanouse took a cigar and was smoking it vigorously, when General Rusk approached him and said: 'Mr. Kanouse, you have been boasting of your temperate habits; now I don't use a drop of liquor, and never in my life used tobacco in any shape.'"

All lovers of art will be pained to learn that the house of Mr. J. R. Meeker, the well known artist of St. Louis, was destroyed by fire at Alton last week. The house contained many valuable paintings and other art treasures which would require many thousands of dollars to replace. Mr. Meeker's financial loss is very heavy, although he was partially insured, and from an art standpoint the loss is incalculable. It was the London Athenaeum which said that Mr. Meeker was one of the five greatest painters in America.

D. H. Johnson, Esq., one of the ablest Democratic lawyers in Milwaukee, has known General Rusk intimately for more than twenty-five years, and when speaking of the present canvass he said very emphatically: "Some of these fellows think Jerry Rusk is a slouch. They make a great mistake. Jerry is one of the ablest politicians in the State. He is going to win this fight. He is solid with the Germans. He may be scratched a little in some places, but I should not be surprised if he carried the ticket by twenty thousand majority."

Those who are interested in having a thoroughly well prepared life of the late President Garfield given to the public, will be glad to learn that Mrs. Garfield proposes to have an adequate biography of her husband and an appropriate collection of his literary remains published after careful consideration and under her sanction. The work will need a long and painstaking preparation, which cannot, however, begin too soon; and it could come to the world with no better sanction than that of the wife whose name will always live in the history with that of her husband.

Governor Smith and Thomas M. Nichol will do some speaking during the campaign, and the following dates and places have been named:

Waupun, Thursday, October 27th.
Portage City, Friday, October 28th.
Beloit, Monday, October 31st.
Brookfield, Tuesday, November 1st.
Monroe Point, Wednesday, November 2nd.

Platteville, Thursday, November 3rd.
Lancaster, Friday, November 4th.
The spirit with which Governor Smith enters "into the campaign, and the amount of labor he will do for the ticket, should serve as a chilling rebuke to many of our public speakers who sit with folded arms and let the campaign run itself.

The charges against Colonel Carter, warden of the State prison, at Waupun, are of a very serious nature, and of course will receive the attention of the State Board of Control. The charges are very sweeping and exceedingly aggravating, and just how much truth there is in the story the Milwaukee Sentinel has started in regard to the management of the prison, can not be told at present. Among the charges made is one that trusty officials have been removed to make places for inexperienced and incapable favorites; that the escape of several prisoners of late is the result of sheer carelessness and neglect of duty; and that the appointment of Colonel Carter to the wardenship was simply a political piece of work. It has been supposed for a long time back that the State prison was under excellent management and that it had ceased to be a financial burden to the State. These charges will strike everybody with astonishment, and we believe that the public will not judge that institution corrupt until the matter has been thoroughly investigated and the charges sustained by indubitable evidence.

The discussion of the Christian Religion, by Col. Ingersoll and Judge Black, which was commenced in the August number of the North American Review, is continued in the November issue of that publication. Col. Ingersoll now replies to the strictures of his opponent, and presents much more fully than he has ever before done the logical grounds for his opposition to Christianity. The article will be received with interest by those who have read the first part of the debate, as well as by those who believe that the cause of truth is best advanced by free discussion. An early number of the Review will contain an exhaustive reply. In a symposium on Presidential inability, four of our most eminent jurists, Judge Thomas M. Cooley, the Hon. Lyman Trumbull, Prof. Theodore W. Dwight, and General B. F. Butler, discuss the several weighty problems arising out of Article 2 of the Constitution. England's Hereditary Republic is the title of a significant paper contributed by the Marquis of Blandford, and Senator George F. Hoar writes a statesmanlike article on The Writings Power of the President of the United States.—North American Review, New York.

Ex-Governor Edwin D. Morgan, who has been nominated and confirmed Secretary of the Treasury is one of the ablest financial men in the country. He is now seventy years old, and has been engaged in business in New York city for more than forty-five years. From 1859 to 1893 he was Governor of New York, and his administration was marked by a decrease of the State debt, an enormous increase in the revenue from the canals, a free use of the veto power in regard to worthless bills, and rigid economy in the management of State affairs. His zeal and efficiency caused 220,000 soldiers to be sent from the State of New York to the war. He served in the United States Senate from 1863-69. His appointment to the Treasury will strengthen the Republican party in New York, beside placing that branch of the government in the hands of one of the ablest and most vigorous financiers in the United States. It is said that when President Arthur was a young man, just entering political life, Governor Morgan adopted him, politically speaking, and gave him a start.

P. S.—Since the above was written Mr. Morgan has absolutely declined to accept the treasuryship.

It is refreshing to find that there are many temperance people who are thoroughly in earnest in all practical and good work in the temperance cause; who refuse to be deluded into the scheme of indirectly voting for the Democratic ticket by supporting the Prohibition ticket. There is a selfish motive governing the conduct of many of the leaders of the Prohibition movement for which the masses of the temperance people have no sympathy. When the great bulk of the temperance people are confronted with the question of voting for the Prohibition ticket and there by strengthening the Democratic party, or throwing all their influence for the party from which all reforms come, they will not hesitate to give the Republican party their support. The surest hope the Prohibitionists can have of practical temperance reform, lies in the party they are attempting to "strangle." To crush it will make the reform they are seeking forever impossible. The most far-seeing, shrewd, and devoted temperance workers take this view of the matter, and propose to show their high regard for the principles they profess, and the cause they cherish, by supporting the Republican ticket. So long as the Republican sentiment is dominant, there hope for the temperance people to gain the point they are asking to-day. Whenever that sentiment ceases to be dominant the hope of the temperance people is blasted.

WASHINGTON.

Special to the Gazette.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The President states that Morgan absolutely declines the treasuryship. No name will be substituted until to-morrow. The members of the cabinet think Judge Folger will be named.

There was much excitement this morning over a report from New York, of the assassination of the Czar of Russia. The minister denied the rumor.
McVeagh and family left for Philadelphia, not intending to return. Howe will certainly succeed him.

CABINET TALK.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The Attorney General visited the President this morning to pay his parting respects before the nomination of his successor was sent to the Senate. The President solicited him to remain in the cabinet, but Mr. MacVeagh courteously declined. He fully expected, it is believed, that the name of Mr. Howe would be sent in immediately. Later in the day he was summoned again to the President's residence. A gentleman who professes to have information of what transpired on the occasion of the second visit, says that the President insisted upon MacVeagh remaining, and the Attorney General still refusing to remain, the President offered to accept his resignation for the time being and reappoint him. Attorney General when the new cabinet is nominated in December for the remainder of the President's term. Mr. MacVeagh, the story goes, thanked the President for his kindness, appreciating the spirit in which the offer was made, but said that he must decline to accept. It was for the reason that the President did not despair of keeping Mr. MacVeagh in his cabinet until late in the afternoon, that the nomination of Mr. Howe was not sent to the Senate. It is reported that the ex-Senator from Wisconsin is off on a trip of some description in the northwest at the present time, and that it is impossible to communicate with him on the subject of his appointment.

ment. Even if this story is true it will not retard the nomination of Mr. Howe in the slightest, and his name will be sent to the Senate to-morrow.

BLAINE'S RECEPTION.

A Grand Affair in Honor of the German and French Guests—Brilliant Gathering.

WASHINGTON, October 24.—The reception to-night by Secretary Blaine to the German and French guests was a most brilliant affair. Of the 400 invitations extended, fully 300 were accepted. The members of the cabinet, excepting Secretary Windom and Attorney General MacVeagh, a full representation of the foreign diplomatic corps, the Judges of the Supreme Court, many United States Senators, and army and navy officers, and a number of prominent citizens were present. Secretary Blaine received his guests at 9:30, and introduced them to the visitors, and at 11 all were treated to a cold collation. This reception closes the formal attentions here to the distinguished foreign visitors. In the morning the German guests, accompanied by Walter Blaine, third assistant Secretary of State, will leave for Baltimore, and thence to West. The French officers will remain in Washington until Thursday, when they will depart for Boston.

THE DEAD PRESIDENT.

The Estate—The Fees of the Attending Surgeons.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—It is expected that a special committee will be appointed by the House, soon after its organization, to prepare an item to be inserted in one of the appropriation bills to pay the expenses of the ex-President's long illness. Mrs. Garfield is administratrix of her husband's estate, and in a few days she will probably notify persons having claims against the estate to present them. Various estimates as to the cost of the President's illness have been made, but those in a position to judge of the probable expenses incurred place the sum at $100,000. It will not vary greatly from that amount although much depends upon the bills of the physicians. Dr. Bliss it is said, thinks that his services are worth $25,000. What the charges of Drs. Agnew, Hamilton, Reyburn and Boynton will be is not known. Surgeons Barnes and Woodward being in the service of the government will not present their bills, but their friends anticipate Congress will grant them something as substantial as a vote of thanks for their labors. Dr. Boynton, his friends think, will not present a bill to Mrs. Garfield, because the ex-President was his relative and friend; but if Congress is to assume the expenses of the illness, he should be amply recompensed. Boynton was the man that the President knew as his friend and relative, and if Bliss' services are worth $25,000 or $10,000, or $5,000, Boynton's services are worth just as much.

NOMINATIONS.

WASHINGTON, October 24.—It is expected that the Senate will adjourn by Wednesday or Thursday of this week. An early adjournment, however, will prevent the filling of a number of vacancies which have occurred in other ways than by the expiration of commissions. The President said to-day that he had determined to make no appointments now to fill vacancies that will occur after the close of the session. All cases of that kind can go over until the December session.

The nomination of ex-Congressman Bailey of the Albany, New York, district to be consul to Hamburg, surprised many stalwarts here. They had expected that a nomination would be made, owing to Mr. Bailey's pronounced anti-stalwart views, and that the old consul, James M. Wilson, of Missouri, who is a friend of General Grant and Senator Jones, of Nevada, would resume his place. The President decided, however, to give Mr. Bailey the place to which Garfield nominated him.

ADVANCING RATES.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, October 24.—Indications are that the great war which the railroads have been waging in the matter of passenger rates is coming to an end. This morning the Pennsylvania company advanced the rates from Cleveland to New York from $9, with a rebate of $5, to $14, with the same rebate, making the net rate $9 instead of $4. It is thought the other roads will follow suit.

Toledo, O., October 24.—The Pennsylvania road has ordered all $4 rates, such as New York, Washington, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, to be raised to $14, with no rebate. The fare to Boston is fixed at $12. There are no changes of rates as yet on the Lake Shore or Canada Southern.

THE RIVERS.

QUINCY, Oct. 24.—There has been a slight fall in the flood to-day, but the stage of the water is still one foot above the highest point reached by the rise of last spring. All railroads leading south and west are more or less interrupted, and the Quincy, Missouri and Pacific has been totally suspended for the past four days. The Hannibal and St. Joseph trains run for miles in water almost up to the passenger steps, and traffic is kept up under great difficulty. The levees, both above and below the city, are practically closed, and nearly all the enclosed lands are submerged as effectually as those outside of the levees. Reports from above indicate that the water can hardly be expected to subside for some days yet.

Oshkosh, Wis., Oct. 24.—The river raised several inches to-day, and all the mills, lumber yards, machine shops, etc., and below that city are practically closed, and the water is running across the lower end of Main street, and Main street bridge across Fox river is impassable. The damage and hindrance to manufacturing here will be great.

HAZELTON.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 24.—Representative George C. Hazelton, of Wisconsin, special counsel for the United States in the matter of the suit to oust the Canon del Agua Company in New Mexico, who came here under instructions from the department of justice for a conference, was taken seriously ill with dysentery, and has for a week been confined to his bed. He was preparing to go to Wisconsin to take part in the campaign, but his physicians have forbidden him, for the present, from making any speeches, although he is convalescent.

ONE OF THE WILLIAMSSES.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 24.—Sheriff Rugee has in custody here a man supposed to be one of the Williams brothers, who murdered the Coleman brothers, which created such excitement at the time. The suspected man answers the description of one of the murderers, but though he has been in custody several days and parties from the interior have called to see him, his identification has not been established. To-day Assistant Attorney General Chenoweth came in from Madison, but failed to add to the information about the prisoner. It is said that the matter will be decided to-day, when a brother of the murdered Coleman's will arrive and visit the jail. The capture of the suspected party is known to but few here besides the jail authorities.

The man himself claims to be William Cole, of Menasha. A man claiming to be his brother is here to secure his release on a writ of habeas corpus, but the authorities have resolved to arraign the suspected party on a charge of vagrancy to-morrow, in order to hold him until the brother of the murdered Coleman arrives from Ashland, which will be this afternoon, when his identity will be established, or otherwise.

Dr. John L. Kane, of Milwaukee, who was editor of the Sentinel for some time, was nominated on Saturday by President Arthur as appraiser at Milwaukee; but when the matter was investigated, it was found there was no such office, it having been abolished three or four years ago. There is many a slip between the cup and the lip, and this slip is unfortunate for Dr. Kane.

BRIEFLETS.

—Pay your poll-tax.

—The registry of voters is going on today.

—Those who return from the lake report ducks as scarce.

—The dance at Apollo hall last evening was not very largely attended.

—Billy Arlington and his fine-making minstrels are to be at the Opera house this evening.

—Billy Arlington's minstrels made a street parade this morning, and lived up the streets with their excellent band.

—Beloit College now numbers among its students four colored young men, who expect to take full courses, and prepare for the ministry.

—The Marshal of the Arlington minstrels parade to-day was our well known towns (young) man Prof. Brown, who led the van with the step of a conquering hero.

—J. C. Hemmens and wife desire to express their thanks for the kindly services of friends during the illness and on the occasion of the burial of their father, Mr. Michael O'Connors.

—A. Rider, the well known grocer, is opening a little store one West Milwaukee street, it being that lately occupied by Mr. Boyd. He purposes to keep cigars, tobacco, candies and fruits.

—Mrs. David McLay, of Emerald Grove, sends a beautiful bouquet gathered from her own garden. How so much floral beauty could have escaped the ravages of such horrible weather is a mystery.

—The Merry Club is reorganized, and will open its season at Cannon's hall next Thursday evening. All those who have joined this year, and the members of last season, are invited to be present at that time and place.

—The work on the county asylum for the insane is progressing favorably. The carpenter work will be done by next week. The building will probably be ready for occupancy before the first of January, but not much before.

—"My Geraldine" is to be given at the Opera house to-morrow evening by an excellent company. It being one of Bartley Campbell's best creations, there is every reason to expect an entertainment of unusual interest and merit.

—Next week will be a rare one, in the amusement line. Three as fine entertainments as were ever given in Janesville are to be presented to the public for their patronage. McKee Rankin is to be here Monday evening, Tuesday evening the "Banker's Daughter" will be given, and Wednesday evening is the time fixed upon for the grand concert at which Clara Louise Kellogg is to sing.

—Henry Mariden appeared before the Municipal Court this morning to stand his examination on the charge of forging an order for a pair of shoes. District Attorney Bale appeared for the State, and M. M. Phelps for the defendant. A question arose as to whether the written order in question fell under the statute concerning forgery, and after some discussion of this point of law, adjournment was taken.

—To-night there is the promise of much mirth and minstrelsy at the Opera house. Billy Arlington and his company are to be there with their repertoire crowded full of witty sayings, funny songs, and other good things, which they have brought with them from the far west, where they have been having a very successful season. Billy Arlington is widely known as a minstrel, and it is said he grows better as the years roll by.

—Many theatrical entertainments which are given in Janesville cannot be presented as well here as in the larger cities, where scenic effects, stage room and the other appointments are more extensive, and these are great helps in the presentation of a play. With a concert this is different. Those who go to hear Clara Louise Kellogg next Wednesday evening will have just as enjoyable an entertainment as could be presented by her, in the largest city in the country.

The concert does not depend so much on scenic effect and stage arrangement as a drama.

—Chickens are scarce, very scarce, in the market places, at least, and one of our professional citizens, who has been hungering after a savory meal of fowl, improved his chance to gobble some while on a drive in the country the other day. He captured two or three, by the roadside, and without taking time to learn to whom they belonged, wrung their necks and threw them in his buggy. On his way home he stopped to call upon a patient, and was so jubilant over his capture of game that he forgot that "pride goes before a fall," and boasted much of his conquest. The good lady winked at the servant girl, and while the conqueror was narrating the details of his victory, the girl skipped out of the house, took the chickens from the buggy, and was preparing them for her own kettle, when the professional caller started for home. When he reached home he was probably puzzled to know what became of those chickens. Perhaps he satisfied himself with the theory that they came to life again and escaped from the buggy, and perhaps not. He still lingers for chickens.

MUTUAL IMPROVEMENTS.

The Mutual Improvement Club met last evening to reorganize and to plan out the winter's season of study. It was decided to have the season opened with a lecture by Rev. Jonk L. Jones, November 11th, and the first evening's study to be Monday evening, November 14th, the club to meet every other Monday evening after that date. It will study mainly four of Shakespeare's plays: "Romeo and Juliet," "Othello," "As You Like It," and "Henry the VIII." A younger section of the club was also organized who will meet on the alternate Monday evenings on which the club proper does not meet. This younger section will give especial study to Lowell's and Longfellow's works, and also to short studies of mechanical inventions, to electricity, photography, etc. A general committee was appointed to take charge of the enterprise, the following being those chosen: Dr. M. A. Newman, Mr. C. A. Stearns, Mrs. F. C. Cook, Misses Mary Goddon, Rosalia Hatherell, Ida Davies, Abbie Libbey, Marion Murdoch, and De Etta Howard. Miss Hatherell was chosen secretary and Miss Goddon treasurer. The work thus laid out under this management promises to be both instructive and interesting, and a very profitable way of spending the winter evenings is thus provided.

THE CARPENTER MEMORIAL.

The members of the several committees appointed to secure dollar subscriptions to the erection of a monument to the memory of the late Matthew H. Carpenter, should arrange to commence their work promptly and push it energetically. They should not delay in having one of their number from each town and ward, call or send to the Gazette office for their documents, and any information which they may feel to be wanting. It is expected that there shall be some one at every polling place in the county with the subscription list and certificates of membership, prepared to take the tributes of the people, and it is to be hoped that not one of those upon whom the responsibility has been placed, will neglect to attend to the duty with cheerful readiness.

It is expected that the same alacrity will be shown by the people throughout the county in responding to this call, and supporting generously this enterprise. It has been arranged so that the monument is to be truly a memorial of the people, and it is desired that as large a number of persons as possible may be thus practically interested in it. Rock county should lead the State in this matter, and every town and ward should respond that there may be no reason to feel ashamed when the reports of all are published to the world.
